

Garlic Mustard

Training Session

Thursday, April 1 at 7 p.m.

Join Chief Naturalist Dan Bertsch at Wolf Creek Environmental Center to learn what garlic mustard looks like, how to pull it, how to dispose of it and how you can help us control the populations within the park district. Anyone and everyone is welcome to come and join us. If you haven't pulled before or feel the need for a refresher course, we'd really like to see you here as well.

If left unchecked, garlic mustard has the ability to cover the forest floor crowding-out all of our colorful woodland flowers.

Work Days

Battling garlic mustard is a tough, seemingly endless and daunting task, but if we would like to continue to see the beautiful wildflowers that grace our landscapes, we need to act. The park district has scheduled several dates dedicated to the task of eradicating this invasive pest from two of our most at-risk parks. If your schedule permits, please join us at one or all of the following work dates:

Hubbard Valley Park (meet at the smaller trailside shelter)

Friday, April 16 at 6:30 p.m.

Friday, April 30 at 6:30 p.m.

Tuesday, May 4 at 6:30 p.m.

Buckeye Woods Park (meet at the central shelter)

Tuesday, April 27 at 6:30 p.m.

Wednesday, April 28 at 6:30 p.m.

Thursday, April 29 at 6:30 p.m.

Wolf Creek Environmental Center

Tuesday, April 20 at 6:30 p.m.
